

The Old Republic Armored Jedi

Armor

Required Elements

Accurate to Star Wars: The Old Republic Jedi armor including the following pieces: chest, forearm/wrist, hand, thigh and shin armor. Armor should be painted in a spruce green or earth tone color scheme, with metallic silver/gold/bronze trim similar to source images. LFL blue 'release' color scheme is allowable. Armor should be well fitted to the wearer without excessive gap between chest and cod plate.

An amber LED circle at the center of the chest armor and two small amber LED lights at bottom of chest armor may be included, but are not required.

Light weathering to the armor is allowable but should be consistent with weathering to the entirety of the costume.

Optional Pieces

Shoulder bells, codpiece, and boot armor. Style and coloring must match the required armor.

Note on cod piece: If no codpiece armor is used, a long apron style tabard or loin cloth style drape should be used instead. The style of the loin cloth/apron style tabard matches the TOR style, and the color of the fabric should match the undersuit

Belt

If codpiece armor is used it must include a faux belt that has 2 to 4 pouches on each side of the buckle (total of 4 to 8)

If Codpiece armor is not used, then costume must have either an OT style belt with at least two pouches (One on either side of middle buckle), a prequel style belt with at least two pouches (One on either side of middle buckle) and 4-8 food capsules in even sets, or a combo-style belt similar to what is worn by Luke Skywalker in The Last Jedi with with at least two pouches (One on either side of the middle buckle). See the addendum for more details on allowable belts.

Undersuit

Full body undersuit- One or two piece, but the join must not be easily visible. Heavier spandex is allowed, but a thicker, more durable material is recommended. The undersuit must compliment the armor and tie together to be a coherent costume. Allowable colors for the undersuit include the following: Dark Green, Dark Brown, Dark Blue

Boots

Brown boots that match the color of the belt pouches and/or Jedi style belt. Boots are ankle high, slip on style boots, with no visible zippers or laces. Boots are able to be tucked under shin armor.

Robe:

Option #1

Traditional brown Jedi Robe, heel length. The sleeves should finish at the elbow or wrist gauntlets. The robes contain a deep hood. The robes may be lightly weathered to match the armor.

Option #2

Cloak or robe variant that fits Jedi style. The robe must be a brown or variant earth tone. Armor gauntlets should be visible. If there are questions regarding the design of any cloak or robe variant please consult the GCCs with your design.

Gloves

Brown full fingered gloves matching the leather work on the costume.
